

Éva Kószó

Technical Writer & Illustrator

TL;DR

I help teams turn complex technical systems into clear, maintainable, and audience-oriented documentation. Over 9 years in technical writing, my work has grown alongside the evolution of the field: from structured DITA authoring, through docs-as-code and CI/CD-supported publishing, to AI-assisted workflows for planning, testing, and automating repetitive tasks.

I combine technical writing with visual communication and pedagogy to explain complex systems through documentation, diagrams, infographics, illustrations, and training materials.
